

Hello Campers!

We on the RYC are super-duper excited for everyone who is coming to CYF summer camp! Our theme this year for camp is “Technicolor Stories: Tales in Biblical Proportions” and we are very lucky to have Larry Love as our keynoter. We will be exploring topics like modern-day slavery, why bad things happen to good people, and will even have Christmas in July! Along with Technicolor Stories, RYC has come up with a year-long theme for all the regional youth events: Our Call to Action. We hope that during the course of our week together, you will discover the call in your life.

Just like last year, we will have a service day to ready CGC for Miracle Day, October 3rd. So, be sure to bring work clothes that you don’t mind getting paint on. Also, if you think you might have the urge to tie-dye at camp, bring some white clothing (please, no white underwear to tie-dye).

One evening we will have a “slumber party” – PJs optional, but clothes required. If you want to wear PJs that evening, please bring ones that are camp-appropriate! Another evening, we’ll have our dance and the theme this year is “The Future”! What that means is up to you. You could come in silver, futuristic clothing (think “The Jetsons”) or you could think about what you might be in the future and dress like that or you could come up with an entirely original idea about what the future means to you.

Some other items that you should bring to camp are old magazines that you don’t mind getting cut up, a water bottle, a journal (if you like writing), and stuff for the Talent No Talent show. Last, but not least, please bring an open mind, a positive attitude, and a bible (of course!).

We are all very excited to see everyone this summer and hope that this year will be the best summer camp yet!

With Peace and Love,
RYC
